THE ONE WORD "BRYAN" TELLS THE WHOLE DEMOCRATIC STORY

DENVER MEETING ONE BIG TRIBUTE

IN STRIKING CONTRAST WITH REPUBLICAN DISSASTISFACTION

HE WILL DICTATE PLATFORM

UPON WHICH HE WILL SEEK THE PRESIDENCY

RYAN AND MANSON'S BOUT

National Committeeman Inoculated With Progressive Virus, but Manson Will Likely Win

(By A. M. Brayton.)

DENVER, Colo., July 6.—(Special.)—Democrary, thy name is Bryan. Great is Bryan, omnipotent is Bryan, happy is Bryan. The Nazarene of Lincoln, crucified upon his own "Cross of Gold" four years ago, has arisen in Denver, and the Scribes and Pharisees of "conservatism" are telling their troubles to ex-Policeman Alton B. Parker. The story of the Denver convention, as to all essentials, could be as well told today as when it is all over, and were one to seek frugality of words in the final summary, the whole tale could be written thus:

"Bryan."

It is said, or when republicans say it, charged, that the Denver convention is being run from Lincoln as despotically as the Chicago convention was run from Washington. It is quite true. In fact, Mr. Bryan's authority seems more absolute than was that of Taft, or rather Roosevelt, for while Roosevelt dictated his candidate and "fell down" on his platform, Bryan will demand and secure both to his liking.

But there is a vast difference in the character of the dictation. In the Chicago convention, in spite of Roosevelt, there crept in a potent reactionary element. The delegates were for Taft, but they were not for such a platform as Taft wanted. The standpatters secured concessions that in the view of such republicans as Wisconsin produces weakened the party program. The crowds in the galleries were not red hot for Taft, because Taft was as much too conservative for them as his platform was for Roosevelt. But in Denver the delegates—the controlling majority are for Bryan AND BRYANISM. The galleries are for Bryan, and the lobbies of the hotels are for Bryan. Everybody is for Bryan excepting the men you see whispering here and there, looking covertly the while as looks the boys engaged in a raid on the jam, and on their faces there is the tell-tale jam of disappointed standpatism. That is the difference: In Chicago, those who were instructed for Taft were for Taft; in Denver, everybody—mostly—is for Bryan.

Even Ryan Inoculated.

When T. Z. Ryan, Wisconsin national committeeman, arrived here in advance of the delegation, he loomed up as a radical of the radicals. A day at Lincoln enroute had given him the treatment essential to a display of progressiveness having the earmarks of Badgerdom. Ryan's radicalism was no longer the superficial brand which has characterized him at home. It permeated him, it impregnated his being, it oozed from his pores. He was a little radical planet, rotating within an atmosphere of ra-

JOHN MITCHELL WON'T TAKE IT

LABOR LEADER SAYS HE DOES NOT WANT POLITICAL OFFICE

FEDERATION MEETING HELD

Labor Plank is Discussed and Gompers Says Requests Will be Similar to Those Made at Chicago

DENVER, Col., July 6.—John Mitchell is vice presidency shy; before today's meeting of labor leaders he took occasion to "knock" his boom for second place on the tickket, remarking:

"When I was asked to run for governor of Illinois I said then I didn't want to hold political office, and declined the nomination; this holds with respect to the vice presidency."

DENVER, Col., July 6.—A specially called meeting of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor was held this morning in the Labor building with Gompers presiding. They are considering what kind of a plank will be presented to the resolutions committee of the democratic convention.

"All that can be said at this time," said Gompers, "is we are here to ask the representatives of the democratic party as we asked the republicans, for a declaration of principles which hold out to the working men of the country some prospect of securing legislation and law enforcement that will do them justice."

Gompers then reiterated the subjects brought out in the plank presented to the republicans at Chicago and said similar requests would go to the democratic convention.

COUNCIL MEETS ON LICENSES TONIGHT

A special meeting of the common council will be held this evening in the city hall when the remaining applications for liquor licenses will be considered. Since the meeting a week ago there has been nine new applications filed and two others will also be taken up this evening, having been referred from the meeting last week.

The total number of applications received up to the present is 142.

GIRL HITS BOY WITH A BRICK

Because she struck a neighbor boy in the head with a brick, Miss Lizzie Spika, aged 11 years, was today fined $5 and costs in the county court.

The girl claimed that she had gone to pump a pail of water when young Floyd Kosbach, age 7, threw sand in her water. She said something to him and he threw a brick at her. She sailed it back with such force that it took a doctor to sew up the wound.

FUNERAL OF PETER SCHULD TUESDAY

The funeral of Peter Schuld, one of the early grocers and residents of the city, will be held tomorrow morning from the Catholic cathedral, Sixth and Main street, at 9 o'clock. Father Sluyter will conduct the services and interment will take place at the Catholic cemetery.

"THE CONVENTION WILL PLEASE COME TO ORDER."

ACCIDENT AGAIN COSTS SKIP RACE

RED WING BOAT'S SPEED IS LOST AT FINISH

MINNIESKA WINS 1ST PLACE

Fourth Boat Races at Lake City Prove Interesting and Show Big Speed Improvement

La Crosse people returning from the Fourth of July of July motor boat races at Lake City report that the races were most exciting and show a big improvement in the 1908 boats so far as speed is concerned.

The "Skip," put out by the Red Wing company, and which lost the victory last year owing to an accident with the machinery, met with a similar mishap in Saturday's races.

At times during the races the "Skip" showed herself easy master of competing boats, closing up gaps between them with apparent ease, but for some reason the "Skip" was unable to keep up the speed she acquired in spurts and consequently could not land first place. In the second race she could easily have secured second place, but near the

EXTRA COACH FOR HATFIELD VISIT

SEVENTY-FIVE MORE CAN BE TAKEN ON EXCURSION

SECY. BENTLEY GETS WORD

Excursionists Will Leave Green Bay Depot Wednesday Morning for Visit to Big Plant

Everything is pointing forward for one of the most successful excursions ever given by the board of trade when they run their excursion to the works of the La Crosse Light and Power company at Hatfield next Wednesday. The advance demand for tickets has been far greater than any previous undertaking of the organization and the officers and committee in charge are well pleased with the manner that the excursion is being taken up.

Secretary Bentley received a notice this morning from General Passenger Agent Eldemiller of the Green Bay road to the effect that another coach had been secured and as a result an additional seventy-five tickets were placed on sale at Hebberd's drug store this morning. All the previous tickets have been disposed of and there now remains but these tickets for the additional coach, and they are being sold at a good rate.

The schedule for the excursion has been decided upon by the board of trade and the officials of the road. The train will leave the Green Bay depot at 8:30 Wednesday morning, reaching the State street road at 8:35 sharp, where a short stop will be made for those wishing to take the train at that point for convenience. After leacing the State street crossing the train will go direct to the works of the company at Hatfield, where the excursionists will be turned over to the officials of the company. Launch rides, picnics and other amusements are being planned for, the ladies while the gentlemen will be entertained by a trip through the dam and power works of the company.

According to the plans the trips through the plant will be completed by 4 o'clock and the train will leave at that time for La Crosse. On leaving Hatfield the train will stop for a few minutes all along the line until they reach Marshland and will stop there for supper. On leaving Marshland they will come direct to this city and plan to reach here about 9 o'clock.

PRIMA DONNA AT LA CROSSE HOME AFTER LONG TRIP

Mrs. Howland, nee Miss Anna Hickisch, arrived in La Crosse this morning at 3 o'clock.

Her arrival was unexpected as it was supposed that she arrived in New York on the Fourth and would not get to La Crosse until about a week later.

She spent the day in resting after her trip and refused to receive any visitors. Mr. Howland was detained in New York on business, so will not be able to be here just now. Although feeling a little fatigued after her journey Mrs. Howland is feeling well and looking equally good.

PICNIC TOMORROW

The Fourth of July was a gala day in the baseball circles in La Crosse and everything planned went off in the afternoon from the featuring of the La Crosse players in all phenomenal work to administering a coat of whitewash to the Green Bay players.

Emerson "Pink" Hawley, pitcher and manager of the La Crosse team, was in the box and gave one of the best exhibitions of twirling seen on the local diamond in some time. At 3:45 in the afternoon Umpire Connelly announced the batteries for the game. When he announced that Manager Hawley would occupy the rubber for La Crosse an ovation went up for Manager Hawley that almost eclipsed the ovation tendered President Roosevelt at the Coliseum when the republican national convention was insession a few weeks ago. Pink was the hero at every event in the game and the fandom showed appreciation of his work by cheering him continuously. Seven hits were scored against the manager, but all but two were of the scratchiest variety. While Hastings interrupted the smoothness of the team work in the ninth inning when he failed to general a long fly, a combined effort of all the players in the remainder of that inning kept the Bays from crossing the plate. Hawley was enthusiastic after the game was ended and from what can be gleaned from hearsay, it will not be anything strange to see Pink occupy the box several times in the near future. Pink failed to get a chance to cover much ground around the rubber, as most of the players were retired by strike outs or would hit little pop-ups. He also failed to get to the first base and perform between bases. He went out to the first baseman to pitcher twice up and was unable to locate the ball the third time, something that is very strange for Pink.

The Colts started off from the first inning. Safford went to first on an error by Grodnick, but Bond hit to Dolan who unassisted, performed a double play and sent both Stafford and Bond to the bench. Bues, the standby, then appeared at bat and drove the ball into the country and hiked around three sacks before coming to a halt. Becker was next up and found Miller in an easy manner, and drove the ball out for two sacks, scoring Bues. Duchien next appeared at the plate, but flew out to Kernan in the left garden.

In the next inning Tracey started things going for the Colts by bagging a single and stealing second. Hastings got a hit sending Tracey to third and registering at first. Harmes then drove out a long fly to the right garden sacrificing Tracey to the plate. Hawley appeared and was given a hearty cheer but failed to hit the center of the ball and went out Dolan to Miller. Safford was a victim of Miller, and retired the side. In the nert inning they took a rest and then Tracey opened up with a hit, stole second, was sacrificed to third by Hastings and brought home by a sacrifice by Harmes. Another rest in the fifth inning.

In the sixth inning after Becker and Duchien had been put out Tracey appeared and bagged his third hit. Hastings drove to Grodnick who let the ball go through him, sending Tracey to third and Hastings to second. Harmes came to bat and found Miller for a two bagger, sending Tracey and Hastings across the plate for the fifth score of the game. With the game cinched the Colts laid back on their record.

Green Bay played a plucky game and did not stop until after the ninth inning, but Hawley was too much for them and they had to give up to the general. They did not grow dangerous until the fourth inning, but in that inning for a time it looked as though they might cross the plate. After Dolan had struck out and Grodnick went out Bond to Tracey, Mr. Stickney appeared and found Pink's curves for a two bagger. Hammond drove a pretty one behind second base for a safe hit, but Safford got the ball and in a true throw, one of the prettiest of the game, caught Stickney at the home plate, retiring the side. Again in the ninth inning it looked blue for a time. Pickett ex-umpire and manager of the Bays, batted for Miller and drove out a single. Kernan hit a high one to Hastings in the left garden and the sun got in Denny's eyes. He misjudged the ball, allowing Pickett to reach third and left Kernan on second. Dolan at bat, pounded out a fly, but Duchien made a good catch, and held every one safe. Grodnick then hit at the air for three times and Stickney came to bat. Stickney had been hitting the ball repeatedly and Pink decided to let him pass to reach Hammond. Hammond drove out a high fly behind first base and Carl Bond made a dash for the ball and with Hastings at his side brought it down, retiring the side.

Sunday's Game.

Because of the heavy field and the lateness in getting it ready for playing, on the arrangement of both managers, the bame was called off and an exhibition game played for the hundreds of anxious fans. The heavy rain yesterday morning put the field in poor condition and made fast playing impossible and before the diamond could be made usable the time was up and the umps was obliged to call the game. But Managers Pickett and Hawley arranged matters and played a seven inning exhibition game so as not to disappoint the large numbers of fans who had gone out and after seven innings of waddling around in the mud the Colts appeared on the top with the Green Bay players having their nose in a little puddle to the tune of 4 to 1.

Denny Hastings was in the box for the Colts and had things his own way up to the fifth inning, allowing but one hit that came with two men out and the first sack was as far as the Bay player was able to get. In the sixth inning Manager Hawley withdrew Hastings in favor of Scarry, the recruit taken from an independent team at St. Louis and on the recommendation of Konetchy. Scarry forgot to square things with the umpire and the first man was passed, got to second, sacrificed to third and on a wild play came trotting home, for the only score on the part of the Green Bay bunch. Up to that time and after that everything favored the Colts. Four times did they get the initial sack during the reign of Hastings, three times on passes and the fourth when Denny pegged Putnam in the elbow.

As usual La Crosse started off in the first inning, when an error by Hammond, a hit by Bond and a grounder by Becker brought Safford and Bond across the plate. In the next inning Eberle was given a pass, Harmes hit to second catching Eberle but with a wild peg finally got to third, where he was brought home by Safford with a hit.

In the next inning a double by Bues and a single by Becker brought in another run, after which the Colts took another rest for the remainder of the game.

DOPE BOX.

The Colts left at midnight for Oshkosh where they will have a siege with Manager Bubser's Indians.

Here's hopes that Pink will be registered as the regular boxman for the remainder of the season. His work Saturday certainly warranted a regular position.

Eight strike outs against a heavy bunch of hitters like Green Bay is a good record.

Tracey and Harmes batted 1.000 in Saturday's game. Tracey got a hit every time up, while Harmes got a two-bagger and sacrificed the remaining times at bat.

Someone said, "Miller (Hawley's opponent) was one of the best pitchers in the league." Pink, Jones, Lang, Dunbar, Eberle and several others have shown a better record.

One thousand and forty-two paid admissions to the game Saturday. A few more Pink Hawley days and it will insure baseball in 1909.

In yesterday's game Scarry received the glad hand from the fans, and but for the umpire would have kept up Hastings' record for a whitewash.

Manager Pickett made a hit Saturday when he appeared at bat in the ninth inning. He was there for a hit. Yesterday he played the last few innings at first base for Stickney, who was hurt when Safford did a hand spring over him in the second inning.

Other Games.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 6. — Milwaukee fans were given a good impression of Wisconsin-Illinois league baseball yesterday when Wausau and Madison went ten innings at Athletic park. Wausau won by a score of 4 to 3 only after a hard struggle.

Grimes, the Madison pitcher, lost his own game in the tenth inning by heaving the ball over Mee's head and allowing the winning run to be scored. Otherwise he played a fine game, allowing Wausau seven hits and striking out six men. Lang, the former White Sox recruit, was on the slab for Wausau and pitched a good game, allowing Madison seven safeties. He was not as well supported as Grimes, for three errors were made behind him, and Madison was allowed to get away with five stolen bases.

Buemiller's one hand stop at second base, cutting off a runner, who was trying to steal was the fielding feature of the game. The score:

WELSH-McFARLAND FIGHT IS A DRAW

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 6. — After twenty-five rounds of fast and furious battling, Packey McFarland of Chicago and Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion of England, broke even in their contest here. McFarland did the most aggressive work, but Welsh evened up matters by piling up a total of points that earned him a draw.

Welsh's cleverness proved too much for the Chicago aspirant. He tantalized the Irishman with a left and frequently rocked him with a hard right. McFarland's punches carried more steam, but the rock-ribbed Englishman took the body punches without flinching.

Harry Gilmore, Pat Kinneally, Red Weiner and Jack Doyle were in McFarland's corner, while Welsh had Eddie Robinson, Howard Baker, Kid Carsey and Kid Astell, and his helpers.

The heat was intense and the packed house, the largest ever seen in Los Angeles, felt the effects severely.

In the preliminary battle between Kid Carsey of Milwaukee and Harry Dunn of Los Angeles, the fight was stopped in the seventh round to avert further punishment of Carsey.

It is estimated that the receipts for the McFarland-Welsh contest will exceed $12,000.

In the betting at the ringside, McFarland ruled a favorite, at odds of 10 to 6.

You can often tell how much care and trouble a woman has by the way she does her hair. She stops wearing a loose, fluffy mass on top of her head, if she has to work and worry, and twists it into a hard little knot that greatly resembles a doorknob.

Doing one's duty is to be recommended, but one is almost sure to be overworked.

DANE WRESTS TITLE FROM CHAMPION

GANS IS COUNTED OUT IN SEVENTEENTH ROUND

NELSON WEARS DOWN FOE

Baltimorean Exhausts Himself in Trying to Stop "Bat" in Early Sessions

SAN FRANCISCO, July 5.—Battling Nelson is lightweight champion of the world. After fighting an uphill battle for more than a dozen rounds his superior endurance enabled him to batter down Joe Gans, and the veteran took the count in the seventeenth.

Fairly worn out by his own exertions in punching Nelson in the vain endeavor to knock out the sturdy Hegewisch boy, Gans weakened round by round. Fighting gamely and desperately as he could, he slowly lost his lead over his opponent, who just as steadily bored in, earning his advantage bit by bit.

The end came after a round of furious mixing, in which the men wrestled desperately even after the referee had told them to break, and where they rolled heavily to the floor as the result of Nelson tripping on the edge of the mat.

Fall Shakes Up Gans

The shock of the fall seemed to be the last straw for Gans. When he arose Nelson leaped upon him like a tiger and floored him with a savage punch to the stomach. Gans went down for the count of eight, and wearily arose with shaking knees. Again Nelson beat him down with an uppercut and as Gans once more staggered to his feet a hook from the Battler sent him down for the last time.

Gans was not unconscious, and struggled to arise. But his limbs could not support him, and as Referee Welsh pronounced the fatal ten the championship passed into the hands of Nelson.

Gans was favorite in the betting at 10 to 4.

It was a great fight and a great test of Nelson's endurance. For the entire early stages Gans simply played with him, sending in smashes that have won fights for him on many occasions. But the Battler absorbed the punishment, bored in for more and let Gans wear himself down by fruitless pounding on face and body.

The victory was greeted with a storm of cheers, and as Nelson left the ring, battered but fresh and vigorous, he passed through a howling crowd of enthusiasts with whom the win was popular.

It was 2:58 when the principals entered the ring. Willis Britt was Nelson's chief second and Ben Selig served for Gans. Both had been weighed and easily made the scale at 133. There was no delay in preliminaries, the men walking to the center of the ring, shaking hands and then posing for a photograph. After a brief instruction from the referee they stepped back until the gong clanged, and the fight was on.

Gans Starts Forcing

From the start it was seen that Gans meant to force matters, as he had promised to do. Stepping to Nelson, he sent in three straight smashes to face and jaw, shot a hard short-arm jolt to the ear nd poked him in the mouth with the ieft. As Nelson rushed in, Gans uppercut him, but was carried to the ropes by Nelson's rush. Gans blocked cleverly and easily withstood Nelson's attempt to land blows at close range. Referee Walsh was on top of the men instantly, breaking them apart, and the round closed in Gans' favor.

There was loud cheering as the men went to their corners, as it promised to be a sharp, spiteful fight with each man mixing hard.

The hope was gratified, as the second round was a repetition of the first. Nelson rushed in and kept trying to land his usual long swings, but Gans kept firing short arm jolts and straight jabs into his face. As Nelson bored in with head down he would uppercut him, and once he sent the Battler's head back with a snap from a hard right. He sent a volley of swings to the Battler's face and jaw, but did not appear to feaze the Dane, whose most effective punches were glancing swings, which did not seem to hurt Gans.

Nelson is Outboxed

Gans' superiority as a boxer was clearly manifest in the third. He poked and jabbed his right and left into Nelson's face and body, sending in ugly smashes and often being swept to the ropes as the Battler bored resolutely in, trying steadily to get in his short arm blows at close quarters. In spite of Gans' precautions Nelson would occasionally get inside his guard, and once or twice the colored man's head rocked slightly from blows sent in when Nelson's head was scarcely one foot from his own.

Gans drew blood from Nelson's mouth as the round closed, and Nelson walked to his corner with a serious expression on his face.

Joe kept smashing his right and left into Nelson's sore mouth as the Battler rushed in the opening of the fourth, and finally made him break ground, but Nelson danced to his corner at the close as if nothing had happened. In the sixth Nelson was outfought, but landed one hard right to the side of Joe's head, the best punch he had delivered to that time. The tenth was speedy, and Referee Walsh was kept busy shouting to Nelson to stop butting.

Tide Begins to Change

It was in the thirteenth when the tide commenced to change. Nelson bored in as steadily as ever, while

Remember The Saengerfest, La Crosse, Wis., July 23, 24, 25 and 26.

ADVERTISE THE SAENGERFEST.

We certainly want—every one of us—to do all we can for the Saengerfest, and about the most important thing the average citizen can do to help the great festival now is to advertise it.

We can all do that. We all write letters, and we can mention it in every letter we write. We can invite friends in to attend it, and in doing that we will be doing them the favor of bringing their attention to the greatest musical event ever enjoyed by the northwest. We can talk it, and boost it, and post-card it, and every one of the thousands of adults who reside here can become responsible for at least one visitor from outside attending.

Isn't that a good idea? Suppose every man and woman in La Crosse becomes self-constituted a committee of one to bring one person who otherwise wouldn't have come, to the Saengerfest! That would mean an additional attendance of at least 10,000 people. And supposing, for fear some may forget it, that we try to add one or two more each for good measure! If you don't think that would be appreciated, ask the advertising committee. So, please, just say to yourself as you finish reading this:

"I am a committee of one to bring at least one person to the Saengerfest who would not have come without my suggestion or invitation."

Altogether, now!

Very nicely done, and thanking you one and all, etc.

THE SCUTTLERS.

The castigation that Henry Watterson has given to Alton B. Parker for his purpose to go to Denver as a delegate with no other design than to stab his party in the back is richly deserved. Parker still is smarting from the overwhelming defeat that was administered to him and his sponsors four years ago and he seeks to wreck his vengeance upon the democratic party. Behind him is the Belmont-Ryan clique of plutocratic pirate that, failing to capture the democratic ship, now are bent upon scuttling it.

What Mr. Watterson says concerning their designs cannot be improved upon. The resolution which it is announced that Parker will introduce in the convention ostensibly to eulogize the late President Cleveland, but designed in fact to condemn the democratic party and its leadership for the course that it has pursued since it freed itself from the predatory interests that were so influential under the Cleveland regime, prompts Mr. Watterson to denounce its authors without mincing his words. In part, he says:

"Standing about the open grave of Mr. Cleveland, those of us who knew him, but did not always approve him or agree with him, were not only willing that bygones should be bygones but that the good alone should live after him. He is dead. He sleeps with those that went before from Jefferson to Tilden, and history can be trusted to do him no injustice. Resurrected at Princeton and proclaimed at Denver, his name spells firebrand, and firebrand is the sole initiative and purpose of the body snatchers who propose to use it to conjure dissension whilst they try to corrupt delegates.

'In Mr. Bryan and a reunited party democrats saw hope of victory. On none other was there the smallest hope of union. That they reason truly has been shown by the fact that with the Ryan-Belmont barrel on tap and its agents flying about in every direction, state after state, refusing to be tampered with or tainted has declared for the Nebraskan. Seeing this, Mr. Parker is put forward to deliver the final stroke of the bravo, and, under the pretense of honoring the memory of Cleveland, to plunge a blade, reeking with poison, artfully prepared, into the heart of democracy. That he should lend himself to such a villainy will engulf him in the scorn of honorable men and the detestation of thoughtful democrats.

"There is no more reason why a democratic national convention should go out of its way to signalize one former democratic president than another. Why it should rush upon Cleveland with a frenzy of words than with a hysterical shriek, it should rush upon Buchanan, each—Buchanan and Cleveland—having had the misfortune to divide the party.

"The spectacle in the case of Mr. Buchanan would lack common sense. In the case of Mr. Cleveland, it lacks both common sense and common decency. As well invoke the spirits of the warring democrats of 1860 and seek to force the Douglas men to pay tribute to the Breckinridge men. Under any condition and from any quarter, the proposal to revitalize old quarrels by preamble and resolution on the threshold of a national movement would be thrown out as insane. Coming from Conners and Murphy, from Belmont and Ryan, from Parker and Sheehan it will be thrown out as infamous. They may defeat us, but they cannot debauch us."

The democratic party has no quarrel with Mr. Cleveland. He is dead. He was a man of many admirable qualities and performed many notable public services. But the influences that dominated his administration were not democratic and through his faith in such men as William C. Whitney and J. Pierpont Morgan he was led into courses that his party could not approve without stultifying itself.

William McKinley was a lovable man and his name is honored by the American people. Yet there is as wide a gulf between McKinley's policies and Roosevelt's policies as between the policies of Grover Cleveland and William J. Bryan. Many eulogies have been offered to McKinley that were aimed as shafts at Roosevelt but they have found no place in republican platforms. The very things for which Roosevelt is praised were the things McKinley did not do. Yet Roosevelt is praised without condemning McKinley. For any man to have attempted at Chicago to use McKinley as a means of striking Roosevelt would have brought upon himself instant condemnation. And, at Denver, Parker or any other man that shamelessly seeks to strike at Bryan and the democratic party over the dead body of Grover Cleveland, should be summarily suppressed and overwhelmingly condemned.—Milwaukee News.

THE SELF-RELIANT GIRL

The chief end of doctors is to teach people to keep well with the minimum of doctoring. The chief end of authority is to qualify people for self government. The chief end of parents and schools is to train children in wisdom and knowledge, that they may be able to take care of themselves. That has long been understood in its relation to boys. The idea of education for boys is to train them up through obedience to liberty. We want to make them free, and wise enough to thrive on freedom. As fast as they can bear it we put upon them increased responsibility for their own conduct, and their own use of time and of money. What we want of them finally is not merely to respond with docility to the care that is taken for them, but gradually to become qualified to take care of somebody else. And steadily and rapidly our civilization has been coming to have a like attitude toward girls. They are not boys in skirts, but very different creatures; their needs are different, the processes of education which seem most profitable for them are different; but in them, too, we grow more and more solicitous to develop the capacity to take care of themselves and eventually of others; to develop, indeed, all possible capacities that are not incompatible with one another, and with the highest and best and most important destiny that life holds for girls.—Success Magazine.

A better method of meeting a duelling challenge was no doubt one which was employed on a certain occasion by a French statesman against M. Victor Noir, an illiterate bully of the press in the time of the Second empire. The statesman received from Noir, for no real reason whatever, a challenge to fight a duel. Noir was a densely ignorant man, and nearly every word in the challenge was misspelled. The statesman responded with the following letter:

"Dear Sir: You have called me out without any good reason; I have, therefore, the choice of weapons. I choose the spelling book, and you are a dead man." The duel was never fought.—Tit-Bits.

SPOTLIGHTS

Seventh Week of Stock Co. N

Ladies will be admitted "free" at the La Crosse theatre tonight with tickets purchased before 6:00 p. m. at the theatre candy store. The bill tonight is "The Great Diamond Robbery," making the seventh successful week for this popular company. The engagement will close in two more weeks, during which time the company will present a different play every day for the remainder of their stay.

A special matinee of "Carmen" is announced for Wednesday afternoon, and Wednesday night a live pig will be given away free. The person in the audience holding the lucky "pig number" must go on the stage and catch the pig."

OUR EVERY DAY PESTS

The experience of New Jersey in its effort to rid itself of mosquitoes is instructive. First, the state under the direction of its entomologist spent $300,000 in a three years' invasion of the birthplaces of the mosquitoes to such good effect that localities formerly plagued by them found themselves relieved of the pest. But it is now heard that the measures against them were a failure. The state authorities, however, explain that local governments permitted ditches that had been dug to fill up. The breeding places of the mosquitoes are no longer drained and the fishes that feed on the larvae can no longer swim up and devour their prey.

In other words, eternal vigilance is the price of liberty from mosquitoes, and municipalities which will not keep up the work to prevent their breeding must accept the bites and consequential ailments from them. The way to get rid of flies is not so plainly indicated; since the only remedy recommended in the literature preaching a sanitary war on the flies is to screen the houses. The people have been doing that for many years without discouraging the activities of the flies, which circumvent the screen. And for the extermination of the rat, so warmly recommended and so universally desired, the means of doing it are longed and hoped for.

Which causes a suggestion to the producers of pamphlets on these vital subjects. While the portrayals of the dangers to humanity from the prevalence of rats, flies and mosquitoes arouse a wonder that the human race survives, no one is objecting to their extermination. That will be carried by unanimous consent. The need, therefore, is not literature informing the public that these familiar forms of life are pests. What is wanted is to teach the public how to wipe them off the face of the earth.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

INDIANS AS SOLDIERS

There are 200 Indians in the Thirty-seventh. Being a rural corps the Haidtmands are weak in strength and considerably more than half of them are red men, second or third year men almost without exception. At the time of the Toronto inspection in 1901 the Thirty-seventh had but seven companies. Of his own initiative Capt. Johnson, an Indian himself, came forward and organized a company of red men from the Six Nations. Today he is captain of as keen a body of recruits as there is in the whole camp. His son is a lieutenant in the same company Lieut. Smith, who was one of the two natives of North America who went to the coronation from the Thirty-seventh, is an officer in the third company. He is a full blooded Mohawk. All these servants of the king are well set officers of military bearing the cleanest, expressive features.—Toronto Globe.

Advice to Anglers

Of all the sports that many men
Are looking for, and wishing
To take a hand in now and then,
By far the best is fishing.

So get a rod and line and hook,
Impale a worm or cricket,
Strike for a river, lake or brook,
In open land or thicket.

Should flies be thick, or weather wet,
Pray, "don't get in a pucker,"
Have patience, friend, and soon you'll get
A catfish, trout, or sucker.

Should you take home when night appears
A little fish's corpus,
Don't tell your friends in after years
'Twas big as any porpoise.
—A. L, L., in Forest and Stream.

On the Job.

At a recent public meeting of retiring councillors in a certain ward in a country town one of the speakers was boasting that he could bring an argument to a "p'int" as quick as any other man.

On hearing this, one of the audience who was acquainted with the speaker shouted out: "Aye, man, Sandy, and ye can bring a quart tae a pint a guid bit quicker."—London Tit-Bits.

No Use For Them.

"What do you mean?"

"Why, you didn't need to send the forks."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Financial Episode.

A Milwaukee business man stepped up to the teller's window in one of the city banks yesterday, presented a check and asked for the money it represented.

"I cannot give you the cash," said the teller, "but I can pay you in clearing house certificates."

"I would much prefer the currency," answered the man.

"The certificates are just as good," said the teller.

"Well," retorted the merchant, "if that is the case, I suppose I can go home to my baby and give it some milk tickets and say, 'Here, little one, these are just as good as milk!'"

The master of mines waved his ...nd as if to put the topic aside. He ...ked brusquely for some figures as ...t the output of the day. Whereon Kahn instantly rained statistics. He had naturally a good memory, and knew that the way to impove it is to trust it and never keep notebook. Jacob Romer listened, ...wly nodding his head after each ...uneration.

"Good, Kahn," he said, "that will ...d and now if you please the re...rts from the smelting?"

These also proved excellent. Prices ...re rising in the market. Jacob ...mer was satisfied, and showed it, ...hereupon his inferior made a timid ...ggestion, the offer of his motor ...convey his master and his master's ...est back to Gorm House.

"Not on any account," said he, ...should not risk my neck in one ...these snorting abominations. If ...can't walk, Kahn, I take a good ...rse out of my stables. And my ...other can do the same so long as ...stays with me."

Kahn had been looking steadily ...er Jacob Romer's shoulder as they ...lked. He had been trying to make ...t the figure by the time-keeper's ...sk, as Doctor Tom from Thorsby ...atched the crowd of wan faces and ...urdy bodies ebb and flow about the ...t head. He liked to know everything. And now—this brother! His master's brother! A little ugly devil of anger leaped up murderously in his breaest. Kahn scented a rival favourite. He told himself indeed that fear was groundless. Who could do for Jacob Romer what he was doing? It was all nonsense about blood being thicked than water. He had always heard his master miscall his brother for a rascal—and worse, a fool.

Still the thoughts of James Kahn were not entirely easy ones as he watched the two old men walk away arm in arm. Because, deep in his heart, James Kahn had resolved that, by right or wrong, hook or crook, the Incubus mines, Gorm House, and the Romer millions should be his. Who could better deserve the final result of a hundred years of grinding the faces of the poor?

James Kahn locked up carefully, summoned his servant, leaped on the motor, and was whisked away to his new residence on the other side of Kirktown, all red brick towers and redder roofs, but named in all humility, the "Caravanseral." He took the highway, dusty and straight, with the belching chimneys on either hand, and the surface deeply worn and rutted by the traffic of Messrs. Iucubus & Company's wagons.

"If I went the other road, there might be an accident," muttered James Kahn to himself. "I could give that old bone-setter a chance of healing himself with pleasure!"

As the Confidential's motor dwindled into a black dot with two following cloudy swirls of dust, about the pit mouth of Number Two a group of men shook their fists at James Kahn aud cursed him openly. All, that is, save one, for Dick Finnan, defended the thrice-condemned "Confidential."

"I speak o' men as I find them, mates," he said, "and so being that Mr. Kahn has behaved very obliging to me—and to my daughter—you know her?—Well he could not have been more polite if she had been a lady!"

With one accord the men turned and looked long into Dick's face. But seeing there only a great simplicity, they shrugged their shoulders and turned away.

"Here's the cage," said one, "let's get below!"

But another whispered, "It's being so long on them island-lights that makes them dotty!"

CHAPTER VI.

The Healthy Family.

Vida Bryan had one great friend, besides old Abraham, the gardener at Gorm House. This was Miss Nunsby, the local music-teacher. Her father was a man by no means popular in the district. First he was and Englishman and prided himself upon the fact. By "Englisher" the Kirktown pitworker meant someone not a "Geordie," which meant from Newcastle way—not a "Lanky," which in addition to Lancashire included Yorkshire—to the digust of casual natives of the county of the Three Ridings. "Scotties," "Geordies," and "Lankies" were, however, more or less on an equality, because there were pits in all these places, and also owing to the respect bred by ability in bargain-making. But Mr. Nunsby was a south-country man, an "Englisher" pure and simple, without shame or excuse, for whom there was nothing to be said, no extenuating circumstances. The popular verdict was "Guilty," without a rider.

Besides, what was worse, he fetched and carried for James Kahn.

Arthur Nunsby had been a man of a certain position. He had been educated for the office of National School-master. But he had had the misfortune to kuarrel with his Vicar, and from that moment for him there was no return. Hope had abandoned him, and he Hope. He grew bitter, as he saw himself far past the meridian of life and still depending for daily bread on a man whom he hated and despised. It is small wonder that his saturnine humour increased and his tongue grew more and more caustic.

As he must always have some one to practice upon he made the little "slavy" the immediate butt of his sarcasm. For on this acount Rose Nunsby secretly cherished the girl, affording her many privileges and never for a moment suspecting that Leebie Callum cared no whit for her father's sarcasms, considering him mentally afflicted, but on the whole innocent, and, indeed, callous to human speech of every sort, so long as there remained to her the inalienable freedom of cupboard and pantry.

Rose Nunsby had been very lonely before Vida came to Glebe End Cottage. Her father was making sufficient money to keep the two of them in comfort. So that it was more for something to do than from necessity that Rose had begun to give lessons on the piano and violin to the children of the shopkeepers and pit superintendents about the Kirktown of Inchgormach.

Just as many perfectly harmless insects imitate wasps and stinging flies, the innocent Rose Nunsby had taken on something of her father's manner. But, within her nature was mild as milk, and her heart even as a honeycomb. She had taken Vida to it at once, and from the first hour had loved her as a sister. She had taught her all she knew, watched over her by day, warned her of dangers, rejoiced in her springing beauty, and now at last she had found in her a companion after her own heart.

Gen. Lee's Humor

Several years ago, when the elevator was first put in the capitol at Richmond, an incident occurred showing the sense of humor of the then Gov. Fitz Lee. The general was of stout build, and he wanted to see how the machine would work. He was a close friend of Judge Samuel B. Witt of the Hustings court.

Judge Witt was holding court the day the elevator was completed, and he was called to the telephone by Gov. Lee.

"Sam," said the governor, "I want to see you for a moment, and want you to come to the office at once."

"Certainly, governor," said the judge, always one of the most accommodating and obliging of public men.

"By the way, Sam, the elevator is finished and you can come up to my office without having to walk up the steps."

Judge Witt got back on the bench and ordered a short recess of the court. Then he hurried over to see the governor. He made known his presence, and he was ushered into the governor's office.

"Hello, Sam," said the governor. "Glad to see you. Come up on the elevator?"

"I did," replied the judge.

"That's all right, then," remarked the governor. "I am just going to dinner and I did not care to try that elevator till I was certain it would hold you. That is all, Sam; thank you."—Washington Herald.

CARNIVAL SHOWS ARRIVING TODAY

NORTH SIDE IS A BUSY SCENE THIS AFTERNOON

TRY TO OPEN BY TONIGHT

But in the Event That All Shows Are Not Here Big Opening Will Take Place Tomorrow

The North side showed considerable activity this morning, the occasion being the big carnival which opens here this evening.

There are four shows in at present and the rest are expected today. The carnival company expects to open this evening, but it is rather doubtful whether the shows will all be ready. It will be running in full blast by tomorrow evening for a certainty.

Among the big features will be the big old fashioned dance to be held in a big tent. William Brandon, the well known vaudeville man, will have a first class vaudeville act which will be one of the biggest attractions of the carnival. There are a large number of applications for privileges and a number of people are requesting that they be allowed to put up performances. Secretary Gibson is at a loss to know how many of the shows he will want. He has about ten big acts that he can depend upon and possibly there will be several more.

Mr. Gibson received a letter from H. H. Moore of the Patton company saying that the company sent cards to the different places that they were to show at, announcing the fact that their season had closed, but Secretary Gibson failed to receive one for some reason. The company found it almost impossible to pay expenses, so they were forced to disband.

"Q" SCORES NOT UP TO MARK

The results of the "Q" Gun club shoot for Sunday were not as favorable as could be expected for such a fine day, but it was evidently an off day with the boys as the scores made were not up to the usual standard set in former shoots. The scores are as follows:

	Broke.	Shot at.
Winter	86	100
Miller	58	75
Thorson	58	75
Ray Roth	43	50
J. Culp	67	75
Layland	35	50
Becker	36	50
H. J. Roth	37	50
Dr. Clemens	57	75
Al Roberge	57	75
W. Roth	14	25
C. Rodell	27	50

GIVES LAND FOR NEW RY. YARDS

B. E. Edward, president of the La Crosse City Railway company, has ceded to the Milwaukee road a strip of land 65 by 1,200 feet, adjoining the Summit stove plant. This gives further assurance that the Milwaukee switch yards will be transfered from their present site.

A civil engineer connected with the company went over the territory Saturday with some of the officials when some of the minor details were gone over and thoroughly discussed. No announcement has yet been made regarding when the work on the new yards will be begun.

FIRE IN SYRIAN QUARTER.

Department No. 2 was called out yesterday to extinguish a small blaze caused by a gasoline stove in the home of a Syrian named Asfoor in the 800 block on Mill street.

NORTH SIDE BRIEFS.

Miss Ruth Grankek returned from Caledonia, where she spent the "Fourth" with friends and relatives.

Robert Brown left last evening to join the navy, having enlisted at the local recruiting station.

The La Crosse Rubber Mills will close for about 10 days to install new boilers. This will put the work back considerably as they have a large number of orders which must be filled and a close now will mean a big rush later.

Mrs. E. Gorman of Springville has returned home after visiting with friends and relatives on the north side for a few days.

Mrs. T. Jones of Prospect street spent the "Fourth" with friends in Viroqua.

Mrs. J. Dugan of Tunnel city is the guet of C. L. Bump of Loomis treet.

Miss Rose McDonald has accepted a position as housekeeper for the Madue family on Wood street.

Miss Vera Tooke of Dubuque is visiting friends and relatives on the north side for a few day.

It is hard to tell which is the worse misfortune—to have too much faith in men or no enough.

JOHNSON'S BOOM COLLAPSES TODAY

WON'T WITHDRAW BUT ADMIT THEY ARE DEFEATED

HAVE EYES ON 1912 CHANCE

Tammany Crowd Holds Meeting and Will Make Formal Announcement of Surrender to Bryan

DENVER, July 6.—Johnson's boom has collapsed.

It is admitted today in their own camp there is no hope for nomination and that his supporters are keeping up the fight only as a matter of principle. The Johnson folks are laying plans for 1912. Theodore Knappen, assistant manager of the campaign and spokesman for the Minnesotan today, said:

"We know we can't win, but Johnson's name will be presented to the convention. We started this fight to stay in it until the finish. All this talk about Johnson's withdrawal is foolish."

Tammany Comes "In"

DENVER, July 6.—Tammany will formally announce its urrender to Bryan this afternoon when at the state's caucus a resolution will be adopted committing the state delegation which is controlled by Leader Murphy to vote for the Nebraskan on the firt ballot.

The New York slate was completed at a conference of leaders this morning. N rman E. Mack was named for national committeeman and Alton B. Parker as member of the resolutions committee.

SAENGERFEST TO LET PRIVILEGES

The refreshment privileges of the Saengerfest will be let at the end of this week. Mayor Anderson has given his consent to the use of all the street space required around the auditorium, but has reserved the park on Fourth and King streets for those people who wish to eat their lunches there. The popcorn, peanut, crackerjack and cigar stands will get their right to sell from the Saengerfest committee, but the ice cream selling privilege will be given to one of the local ice cream firms, probably the Pure Food company, and this company will have the right to sublet the contracts to the small dealers who will use their product.

Many have already applied for privileges, but it was decided to do nothing about these until the end of the week. Mr. Doerflinger, president of the Saengerfest committee, says:

Many have placed their names on file for a privilege on the Saengerfest grounds. The committee decided to give out no privileges until Friday when all the refreshment business will be settled."

GRADUATES PUT MOTTO INTO USE

The graduates of the St. Wencels school with Sisters Adalberts, leonarad and Calasanction held a picnic at St. Joseph's Ridge Saturday. The motto "Climb tho the rocks be Rugged" was vividly recalled while on their outing as climbing the bluff was part of the entertainment. The party left here at 10:30 in a bus arriving about 1 o'clock at the St. Josephs Ridge Convent, where they all sat down to a sumptuous dinner. The afternoon and evening was pleasantly passed and the party returned to the city about 8:30.

DELEGATES GO TO CLEVELAND, OHIO

Orin Nelson, state delegate for the Baptist Young People's union of America, which is holding their national convention at Cleveland, O., left this noon for Milwaukee where he will be joined by Miss Evelina Huntly, the local delegate, who left last night. They will then journey by boat to Cleveland.

LA CROSSE RIVER IS RISING AGAIN

La Crosse river is rising at a rapid rate the water being as high as at any time this year. The lowlands are overflowed and a great deal of damage has been done to hay crops. If the river continue to rise there will be a general flood in th elow spots and a number of people will be compelled to seek higher quarters.

CITIES ARE TRIFLE "DRYER"

LEAD, S. D., July 6.—Nineteen saloons in Lead and eighteen in Deadwood was the number fixed upon by the city councils of the two cities on the annual license night and that number of licenses was granted. This is a slightly lower number than formerly in each city. The county commissioners also granted licenses to most of the applicants and as a result the treasurer took in over $24,000.

TRAIN KILLS ATHLETE

WATERLOO, Iowa, July 6.—Reynolds Donnan, a resident of Independence, Iowa, was instantly killed at Kansas City while working with a bridge gang there. The young man was hit by the train and was so badly mangled that he lived but a short time. He was twenty-two years old, a graduate of the Independence high school and a star athlete. He is survived by a widowed mother.

HERE'S WHAT THE PAPERS SAY:

How Tuberculosis is Spread

MANY CATTLE INFECTED

8 PER CENT OF MASON CITY DAIRY HERDS TUBERCULAR.

Every Herd in That Section is Being Inspected By the State Authorities.

MASON CITY, Ia., June 7.—Special—Inspectors of dairy herds, working among the cows which furnish the milk for Mason City consumers have found on an average of 8 per cent of cattle affected with tuberculosis. The inspectors are working near the city at present and inspect from twenty-five to thirty head of cattle per day and of that number from two to three are affected.. The herds are being cleaned as fast as possible.

One of the significant things discovered is that herds which have free access to the open air the year round and which are in large pastures are free from infection. It is said by the inspectors who have had experience that tuberculor germs are seldom found in range cattle for that reason.

What the La Crosse Pure Food Co. Says:

How to Prevent Tuberculosis

Pasteurized Milk Germless

90 PER CENT ORDINARY MILK IS INFECTED WITH TUBERCULAR GERMS

The Use of Pasteurized Milk is the Only Safe Way to Prevent the Spread of This Dreaded Disease

LA CROSSE, WIS., July 3.—Realizing the condition in supply of milk in various cities, La Crosse being among those who were geting its milk supply without protection and subject to all the dangers of tuberculosis, typhoid fever, etc. The La Crosse Pure Food Co., after making a careful investigation of conditions in this city organized a company and equipped a plant which is second to none in the country in every respect, operated on a scientific basis by thoroughly competent men. Pasteurization is a process of purification. It simply consists of heating ordinary milk to 160 degrees F. and suddenly reducing the temperature to 32 degrees, which purifies it and kills the germs. It is ordinary milk cleansed thoroughly. What this company foresaw is now realized and at all hands comes the call for pasteurized milk. The company's business has more than trebled in the short space of two months.

WHY?

Because the people have become alarmed; because mothers are realizing the deadly infections of ordinary milk that has retarded the growth and sickened their babies; because this disease has become a common word of household fear and the public has risen to eradicate it; because all doctors recommend this milk. That's why we tell you of the merits of pasteurized milk and urge you to use it.

MAY LOSE HIS HAND AND EYE

PORTAGE, Wis., July 6.—Frank Weber, one of the best known farmers of the county, residing at Caledonia, a town about three miles from the city, may lose his left hand at the wrist and the sight of his right eye, because of the explosion of a small cannon. With several families of the vicinity he was celebrating the fourth at his home. Taking a dynamite cracker apart he worked its contents into a small cannon and rammed it down with a stick. Suddenly there was a flash and the cannon flew into the air, while Weber cried out in pain. His friends rushed to him and found his left hand badly mangled and his eyes filled with powder. Physicians were hastily summoned who believe that amputation of the injured hand will be necessary. His right eye is blinded but every effort will be made to save is sight.

SPARTA POSTMASTER DIES SUDDENLY

SPARTA, Wis., July 6.—Postmaster D. C. Beebe of this city is dead. He was one of the oldest practicing physicians of western Wisconsin, he being for many years connected with the firm of Beebe, Sarles & Beebe.

He was an army surgeon during the civil war and for more than twenty years president of the board of education of this city. He had served as mayor of the city and was appointed postmaster two years ago.

BOOM "TIM" RYAN FOR BIG PLACES

VICE PRESIDENT AND CHAIRMAN OF NATIONAL COMMITTEE

MANSON MEN SEE A SCHEME

Say "Booms" Are to Strengthen Him for National Committee Place; Two Red Hot Iowa Planks

(By A. M. Brayton.)

DENVER, Colo., July 6.—(Special.)—"Tim" Ryan of Waukesha, Wis., for vice president. "Tim" Ryan, of Waukesha, for chairman of the national democratic committee.

Timothy J. Ryan is here and his boom was talked seriously. That it is sincere is the claim of some old line politicians, but that it is just a "lift" for Mr. Ryan to prevent the defeat of his efforts to be re-elected national committeeman is the opinion of progressiveness.

While both Ryan and State Chairman H. H. Manson claim the advantage in the contest for committeeman, it is felt Manson backed by the "Youngsters" has the better of it and the Ryan following, they say, has been forced to the expedient of boosting their man by the use of booms that are impossible. To this they add that Mr. Ryan is too much a conservative to suit Mr. Bryan as vice-president. On the other hand Ryan has acquired many influencial friends in the party who decline to regard his candidacy as either a coup or a joke.

No Star Chambers

Some new dynamite was injected into the platform discussion when former Congressman Martin J. Wade of Iowa appeared in the lobbies with copies of two red hot planks which will be proposed for the platform and will have the backing of practically all the members of the resolution committee, according to Judge Wade.

One plank is aimed at Speaker Cannon, the house rules and the "donothing" policy of the house, the other is a declaration that the rules of both houses of congress should be amended so that no closed door session of a commitee should be held; in other words, public business should be transacted in the open, records should be made whether it be business of committee, conference of committees or the houses themselves.

A married man could be ideally happy if his wife would let him wear his old clothes to business and his best ones when he goes fishing.

MRS. HELKE DIES AT MOUND PRARIE

Mrs. Gustav Helke, residing at 1517 South Seventh tsreet, died suddenly Friday night at Mound Prairie, Minn., where she had gone about a week ago to visit her sister. Rheumatism of the heart was given as the cause of her death. A telegram Saturday morning conveyed the news to the family.

The funeral services will be held from the home at 10:30 o'clock Monday morning and at 11 o'clock from the German Methodist church. Interment will be made in the cemetery near her old home in Chipmunk Couplee near Chaseburg.

Mrs. Helke is survived by her husband and two daughters, aged 7 and 9 years.

ELECT HEAD OF SCOOLS TOINIGHT

The board of education meets tonight at the high school. Besides the usual routine of business the most important business of the evening will be the election of superintendent of schools. Mr. Bird is the only candidate in view and as far as can now be juded the members of the board will vote for his continuance in office. President of the Board of Education Wm. Luening has been ill for the past week but he will be able to attend the meeting tonight.

VETERANS RETURN FROM ENCAMPMENT

Ed. Raymong, C. Weigle and Ernest Rick have returned from Ripon, Wis., where they have been attending the convention of the Spanish War Veterans. Mr. Raymond reports the convention as one of the most successful ever held. A marked increase in the membership is noticeable, he says.

On the Fourth an address was delivered by Adjutant General Boardman and a sham battle was held.

CIRCUS MUSIC OF HIGH ORDER.

One of the delightful features of Ringling Brothers' World's Greatest Show is its excellent military band of fifty soloists under the direction of Albert C. Sweet. It is one of the best bands in the United States and by all odds the best that ever played incidental music for a circus program. (During the hour between the opening of the doors and the beginning of the regular performance this band gives an excellent concert of operatic and popular music.

FAST HALF IN FOURTH RACES

The races held at the fair grounds the Fourth under the management of Harry Palmer, were handicapped by the heavy condition of the track, but nevertheless some fast time was made and interesting heats were pulled off. The best record of the day was made by Big Tom, owned by E. J. Fulton of Galesville, who stepped a half mile in 1:06, which is almost the track record. When C. L. Hood announced the time he stated that the audience might go thousands of miles and pay big sums and not see a race the equal of that of Big Tom and Dr. Brown, owned by Harry Palmer.

There were three horse races, a mule race and a motorcycle race. attendance was good and every one appeared to be satisfied with the results of the races. In the Motorcycle race Otto Gudenschwager defeated his opponent in a two mile race, making the two miles in 3:40. The early part of the race was close and exciting but on the last lap Gudenschwager jumped ahead and came in nearly a quarter of a mile ahead of his opponent.

The result of the horse races follows:

Julius Westby is to be the manager of the new firm which will open about September 1st, and handle a full line of high class clothing.

WIFE WON

Husband Finally Convinced.

Some men are wise enough to try new foods and beverages and then generous enough to give others the benefit of their experience.

A very "conservative" Ills. man, however, let his good wife find out for herself what a blessing Postum is to those who are distressed in many ways, by drinking coffee. The wife writes:

"No slave in chains, it seemed to me, was more helpless than I, a coffee captive. Yet there were innumerable warnings—waking from a troubled sleep with a feeling of suffocation, at times dizzy and out of breath, attacks of palpitation of the heart that frightened me.

"Common sense, reason, and my better judgment told me that coffee drinking was the trouble. At last my nervous system was so disarranged that my physician ordered 'no more coffee.'

"He knew he was right and he knew I knew it, too. I capitulated. Prior to this our family had tried Postum but disliked it, because, as we learned later, it was not made right.

"Determined this time to give Postum a fair trial, I prepared it according to directions on the pkg—that is, boiled it 15 minutes after boiling commenced, obtaining a dark brown liquid with a rich snappy-flavour similar to coffee. When cream and sugar were added, it was not only good but delicious.

"Noting its beneficial effects in me the rest of the family adopted it—all except my husband, who would not admit that coffee hurt him. Several weeks elapsed during which I drank Postum two or three times a day, when, to my surprise, my husband said: 'I have decided to drink Postum. Your improvement is so apparent—you have such fine color—that I propose to give credit where credit is due. And now we are coffee-slaves no longer."

SOCIETY

PICNIC PARTIES ARE HALTED BY SHOWERS

Saturday morning dawned very inauspiciously for those contemplating out of door pleasures, for all during the morning hours the rain fell copiously at intervals thoroughly drenching mother earth so that many of the picnic parties which had been planned had to seek the shelter of some friendly roof under which to enjoy their repast.

By afternoon the clouds rolled by and the sun shone with all its brilliancy and carrying joy to many hearts.

At the country club was the usual fine display of fireworks preceeded by a delicious dinner, which none know better how to serve than does Mrs. Smith, the efficient manager of the Country club. About a hundred sat down at the tables while the number was greatly increased later on to view the fireworks.

WOMEN TO MEET

The Central W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. A. E. Thompson, 621 State street, Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

DINNERS

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hixon entertained at a dinner Saturday evening. The guests were Mme. G. C. Hixon, Mr. and Mrs. George Hixon and Miss Kellerher of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Paul of Watertown, Fla., Miss Crosby and Messrs. Sydam and Robert Hixon of Toledo, O.

DINNER AT THE STODDARD

Mr. E. A. Williams and daughter, Miss Williams, entertained at dinner yesterday at the Stoddard. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Beatty, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hurtgen and Mr. Sydney Law.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Richards entertained at a dinner party Saturday evening at the Stoddard. Covers were laid for eleven.

AN ADJOURNED PICNIC

A picnic party which was to have eaten its dinner under the shade of the trees at Myrick park Saturday, on account of the rain, packed their baskets of goodies and aujourned to the home of Dr. Houck, where the good things were disposed of with a keen relish and much enjoyed by the side of a blazing grate fire.

SOCIAL BRIEFS

Mr. Robert Hixon and friend, Mr. Frank Sydam, who have been spending a week at the home of Mme. G. C. Hixon, returned last evening to their home at Toledo, O.

Mrs. Anna Hickisch-Howland arrived home this morning from London, and will be here until after the saengerfest.

C. A. Stam and family of Merrillan, Wis., spent the Fourth with his brother, F. E. Stam, the photographer, 124 South Fifth street, La Crosse, Wis.

THIRTY BAGS OF SALT EACH DAY

Some idea of the magnitude of the Ringling Brothers' World's Greatest Shows may be found in the factthat in a single day thirty bags of table salt are consumed in the canvass hotel. Other supplies are required daily in the following quantities: Two thousand pounds of meat, 150 gallons of coffee, sixty gallons of milk, 1,000 pounds of vegetables, 200 lbs. of butter, 1,200 loaves of breat and 100 gallons of soup.

For the entire circus 50,000 gallons of water are used daily and the 650 horses and the several hundred menagerie animals require 100 bushels of oats, hirty tons of hay, ten tons of straw and fifteen bushels of bran. On the show grounds are three barber shops, a laundry, wagon and blacksmith shop, a hospital, paint shop, postoffice, tailor shop, dynamo and gas lighting plant, two general stores, dental parlor, harness shop and a library.

Nothing approaching the size and magnitude of this splendid enterprise has ever been attained by another circus. Their long special trains cover more than a mile of track, the main tent is the biggest ever constructed, the payrolls number 1,250 people and the various tents cover twelve acres.

Everything about Ringling Brothers' circus is on a scale of magnificence not reached by other shows. The 375 performers are for the most part from Europe and Asia, the new parade was built in foreign studios and shops and the costumes of the parade and opening spectacle were made in Paris. It is the best dressed circus in the world as well as the biggest.

The entire performance will be given in La Crosse on Tuesday, July 21, in every detail exactly as presented in all the large cities of America. The parade will be at 10 o'clock in the forenoon and there will be two performances in each of which will be introduced the most daring and dangerous of all thrillers, the automobile double somersaalt of Mlle. La Belle Roche.

On show day reserved seats and admissions can be bought at Young's drugstore at exactly the same prices charged at the regular ticket wagon, thus accommodating those who wish to avoid the rush on the grounds.

DR. BEEBE DIES AT SPARTA, WIS.

Dr. B. C. Beebee, one of the oldest and best known residents of Sparta died in that city at 8:30 o'clock Saturday evening of heart failure. Friends in the city were notified of his death by telegram Saturday evening.

Dr. Beebe has been a practicing physician in Sparta for many years and was the father of Drs. Carl and Spencer Beebe who had been in partnership with him lately. He had been ailing for some time and his death was not unexpected. The funeral services will be held in Sparta this afternoon.

IF

Motor cars were already so far perfected that further improvement were impossible what would be the acknowledged defects in the present type of vehicle? Judging from the controversy which goes merrily on among builders of gasoline vehicles it would seem that a standard has been set up by at least one manufacturer which is worth the expenditure of much money and endless experimenting in striving to attain FLEXIBILITY—Yes, that's it.

Mr. Auto Agent will say to you: "Yes sir, we have here a car which is nearly as flexibile as a White Steamer. It contains a six cylinder motor which gives almost the same ease of control as a White." Now really, Mr. Auto Buyer, do you accept this statement as a fact? Just a minute—Does this flexible six cylinder gas car have a clutch, and another thing—how many speeds?—Oh yes—three forward and one reverse I see, and here you have something that looks like—Yes that's where you advance the spark. And here this looks like the old familiar lever which you gasoline men call a throttle, and that reminds me the only thing you have to operate on a White Steamer to vary your speed from zero to sixty miles per hour is the throttle.

No, the flexibility and ease of control of a White have not yet been equalled even with the added two cylinders which many well known motor car builders have added to their power plant in order to approach as nearly as possible the standard set up by the INCOMPARABLE WHITE.

MANY ACCIDENTS AS RESULT OF 4TH

FACES AND HANDS TORN BY EXPLOSIVES

NO FATALITIES IN LA CROSSE

One Boy's Face Mangled by Toy Cannon While Others Suffer from Explosion of Crackers

A number of La Crosse youths were injured while celebrating the Fourth of July Saturday afternoon and evening.

L. A. Swensen Hurt

Leonard A. Swenson, 619 Badger street, had one of his hands mangled and badly burned by the explosion of a roman candle. He was treated by Dr. Cohen and no serious results are feared.

Shot Toy Pitsol

Fred Gross was arrested on the corner of Fifth and Main streets Friday evening while indulging in a little celebration of his own with a blank cartridge pistol. He had no more than shot three or four times with the gun when a policeman took Gross in tow. The young man evidently did not know that shooting blank cartridge pistols was forbidden.

Toy Canon Explodes

Joseph Bicha, aged 13 years, residing on the Mormon Coulee road, was injured on the Fourth while playing with a toy cannon. The boy had put dynamite in the cannon and was ramming it tight with a piece fo iron rod when the charge went off and the rod went through both cheeks. The boy's face was badly burned and he may be disfigured for life.

Another Home-made Cannon

Arthur Krause, 1512 Mississippi street, was also injured while demonstrating his patriotism with a brass pipe serving as a cannon. The boy had loaded the pipe with a eavy charge of powder and had also put in some beans. The charge went into his foot and leg in such a manner as to make the services of a physician necessary. He will be laid up for some time.

Fire Cracker Hurts Hand

Rupert Roedig had four fingers on his right hand blown out of joint because he held a firecracker in his hand until after the explosion was due. The cracker went off sooner than expected, badly lacerating his hand.

Marked for Life

One of the most serious accidents reported was that which befell Westley Gifford, the 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gifford, residing at 822 Rose street. The lad had been shooting off foreworks all day and toward evening had turned to shooting off giant crackers. Seeing a large firecracker in the street with the wrapper torn off he took it up and was going to use it as a holder for the smaller firecrackers. Not thinking that it still contained explosives he lit a smaller cracker and placing it in the end of the giant cracker, held it off while it exploded. As the small cracker went off it ignited the powder in the giant cracker and went off in the lad's hand, tearing off his thumb and terribly lacerating the fleshy portion of his hand. He was hurried to a surgeon's office, where the thumb was amputated and his wounds dressed. While he is resting easily today he will be marked for life as a result of the accident.

DISPLAY NOT AT THE LEVEE

The display of Chinese fireworks which were to have been given by Walter Lee, son of JPohn Lee, in the river front on the evening of the Fourth, atracted a large crowd. The people were disappointed, however, as the display was not given on the levee as supposed but in front of the Lee home on Third street.

THREE PLAYERS ARE LEFT BEHIND

TEAM LEAVES ON ITS TRIP TO MET INDIANS

GRAVES SUFFERING ABSCESS

Hastings Likely to Receive His Release—Other Twirler Joins Pinks at Oshkosh Today

As a result of a rule that govern the league the number of players with each team in the league must by the sixth of July be confined to fourteen, and in complying with this rule when the Colts left last evening for Oshkosh, they left in this city Outfielder and Pitcher Denny Hastings, Pitcher Scarry, recently secured from the St. Louis Independents, and Outfielder Graves, the latter being left here owing to injuries. Graves is suffering with an abscess and will be out of the game for some time. Hastings will be kept for a few days and then will probably receive his "green papers," while Scarry will be either traded or sold. Graves will join the team when his injuries are better and Nicholson, who has been secured from the Black River Falls team, will join the Pinks at Oshkosh today. He was with the team last week and although did not get a try out against a league team showed up good in practice and is thought well of by those who saw him in action.

When the team left last evening they were in the best of condition and were all jubilant over a successful trip. After leaving Oshkosh they will go to Fond du Lac for a series and then to Wausau and Green Bay.

ONE WORD, BRYAN, TELLS WHOLE STORY

dicalism. But, then, there are men here from New York—men of the near-Parker brand—whose inoculation with virus of progressiveness has taken as well as has that of Mr. Ryan, so at home—where "Tim" must be subjected to the last analysis, his new-found anarchy is likely to be attributed to the rarified atmosphere of the city in which he was "a mile high." He is apt to be sized up there for what he has been all along and from time to time.

Wisconsin Radical.

Now, in evidence of the fact that Mr. Ryan is a radical—almost—here is what he said when asked if Wisconsin was not a radical state:

"Well, ye-e-es. You see we have been pretty well educated up there—with Bryan and La Follette—sort of a day and night school—continuous performance. Yes, the men from Wisconsin feel that they carry diplomas in progressive democracy."

Manson Real Radical.

Mr. Ryan will pass muster as a radical when mixed up with the delegates from New York, Pennsylvania and others of the rut-steered commonwealths of the effete and anchored east. He is radical, rather, but that he is outradicalled by the "youngster" faction of Wisconsin democracy that wants the no-limit H. H. Manson to succeed him as national committeeman, and when compared with the latter Ryanism in Wisconsin is as turtle-gaited as is Sullivan radicalism in Illinois. The Manson following represents truly the radical democracy of Wisconsin. Ryan is breathing a strange atmosphere, in which he is no more acclimated than he is in the rare physical atmosphere of Denver. Manson's following inhales it naturally, joyously, vitally. To them it is the breath of life. That this is felt in the bones of Mr. Ryan and his friends seems apparent from the talk of the Wisconsin man for vice president, or for national chairman. Ryan is quite a fellow, but that he "cuts ice" enough to come here with a bona fide and largely backed boom for the two big plums retaining to be plucked is an absurd story, or at least, his opponents from home think so. They will be glad to back Ryan for a big berth if they are shown he has a chance to land it, but they are skeptical. The thing does look, it must be admitted, like a clever piece of politics to let Mr. Ryan shake the vice presidential plum tree hard enough to dislodge the national committeeman plum.

All After Burns.

Incidentally, so close is this race that every vote counts, and so John C. Burns is the coveted of both factions. John C. is the sphinx. He hasn't said a word, and each faction is hoping that he is favorably inclined to its candidate. They love John Burns, they do. John is showered with attentions. He could open up a concession brokerage with all the privileges they are anxious to heap upon him. And denizens of Mr. Burns' familiar haunts about the La Crosse club can appreciate what a lot of fun the big fruit man is having with the bunch. There is one thing they all understand here now, however. It is that John C. Burns is going to vote for the man who he thinks will best serve his party in state and nation, and no other considerations will move him. Were I asked to guess, I should say Mr. Burns will vote for Mr. Manson, but as it is only a gusss, perhaps it will be safer to "hedge" thus: Mr. Burns will vote for Mr. Manson if he does not vote for Mr. Ryan.

Republicans Secretive.

One of the first things that impresses one on coming here, after Chicago, is the difference between your republican and democrat as to talkativeness. The republican is secretive. He is the "whispering Irishman." If he talks at all, it is about why something happened, not what will happen, and why. He don't know, because the machine is all powerful, and if he guesses wrong he belittles himself. This has made him cautious, secretive. His God is party, and his Messiah is the machine. His text is: "I only know that my redeemer lives."

Democrats Independent.

But the democrat is irreverent. He doesn't care the finest-bunch-of-profanity-ever-indulged-in-over-his - liquor-straight about the machine, provided he doesn't agree with the machine. He has opinions and he is anxious to air them. He talks garrulously and often loudly, and he offers no apology if the concussion of his broadside of opinions disarranges the halo on the head of his party Moses. He has defeated his party often by his independence, and that harmony is to mark this convention and campaign is due to the fact, not that democrats have acquired the gum shoe caution of their opponents, but that a more than usually large percentage of democrats think alike this time.

Convention Tomorrow.

National Chairman Thomas Taggart will call the convention to order at noon tomorrow, which is 1 o'clock in the Mississippi valley, and Right Rev. James J. Keane of Wyoming will deliver the invocation. After the home-made addresses of welcome the temporary chairman, Theodore A. Bell, will deliver the "keynote" speech, and then the regular order of business will be suspended to allow the reading of resolutions touching upon the death of former President Grover Cleveland. Following this an adjournment either until Tuesday evening or Wednesday morning will be taken. If a session is held in the evening it will be given over to addresses and eulogies in memory of Cleveland.

On Wednesday morning the temporary committees will be named and adjournment will then be taken until they can report, which will probably mean a session of the convention on Tuesday evening. Then the report of the committee on credentials will be heard and also the report of the committee on rules and order of business. This will usher in Congressman Henry D. Clayton of Alabama as permanent chairman. It is planned that the marching clubs shall pass through the auditorium during one of the Wednesday sessions.

Thursday morning, it is expected, the committee on resolutions will report the platform, and if there is no very great fight on this report Mr. Bryan will be nominated at the afternoon session. You can't tell, though, about that, and the Nebraskan's nomination may possibly be delayed until an evening session. Friday will see the selection of a vice presidential candidate. If the fight between the thirty or more candidates—almost as many as the varieties of pickles—doesn't last too long the selection will be made Friday morning.

GOLD PIECES GIVEN AWAY!

A FAIR CHANCE FOR ALL
YOU MAY GET THE GOLD

A GRADUATE of Ann Arbor has claimed that there is a grammatical error in the reading matter on the "INDIAN CORN FLAKES" package. Read the package over carefully; then write what you think the Ann Arbor graduate referred to.

At the same time, write us why you think "INDIAN CORN FLAKES" is better than any other Corn Flaked Food. Just a short letter; not more than one hundred words in length.

To the writers of the best letters we are going to give $500.00, and here's where the GOLD comes in.

To the writer of a correct reply, together with the best letter on the superior quality of "INDIAN CORN FLAKES" we will send $20.00 in GOLD. To the writers of the next five best letters and correct replies, we will send each $10.00 in GOLD. To the next sixteen best, we will send each $5.00 in GOLD. To the next seventy-five best, we will send each a crisp $2.00 bill. And to the next 200 best we will send each a crisp $1.00 bill. Two hundred and ninety-seven prizes, $500.00 in all.

The general character of the letter will be considered equally with the correct replies, so that the last letter received may get the GOLD.

The contest closes July 10th and letters must reach us by that time. We will send the GOLD as soon afterwards as the letters can be read and judged.

Address letters to the Indian Corn Flake Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Sign your name and address plainly, and do not delay as this advertisement may not appear again.

BRYAN'S DEFAMER IS COMMITTEEMAN

racy, on Bryan, has stirred the Bryan campaign to its center and personlities being freely indulged in today by both sides.

Following a conversation with Bryan over the long distance phone Mayor Dohlman of Omaha began active work to secure control of the Pennsylvania delegation for Bryan and eliminate Guffey as national committeeman from that state. The Bryan men this morning predicted they have 43 votes in the caucus out of 68. It is intimated that of the Pennsylvania contestants only those will be seated by the national committee who pledge themselves to vote against Guffey's friends insist that even though they lose every contest, they still will remain more than a majority of the delegation. Guffey is fighting mad and is in contsant conference with his lieutenants. James Kerr Clearfield is Bryan's choice for national committeeman.

Guffey Wins Out

DENVER, Col., July 6.—The Pennnsylvania delegation today after a bolt by the Kerr contestants elected Colonel Jim Guffey, chairman of the delegation, member of the nationla comittee. Kerr himself led the bolters and as they walked out they were greeted with hisses and jeers by the Guffeyites. One of the latter denounced them as cowards. One of the bolters retorted, "Come down in the alley and see whether we are."

Guffey was nominated by P. J. O'Boyle and received the votes of all the 47 who remained in the meeting. Guffey is identified with the Standard Oil trust.

DENVER, Colo., July 6.—The center of activity of the democratic party today is the Brown Palace hotel—on the eve of the assembling of the national committee which is making up a temporary roll of delegates, while bands are playing outside and delegations are cheering each other as they march and countermarch about the streets. Some contests are being hard fought and for the first time since the preliminary work was begun there are evidences of an acrimonious feeling that may yet crop up on the floor of the convention. The committee was called to order at 10 o'clock by Chairman Taggart in the parlors on the second floor of the hotel.

"We are the only regular democrats," was the burden of the cry of the contestants. "If you do not recognize our claims the cause will suffer."

After Secretary Woodson had read a list of contests a motion was adopted that separate subcommittees should hear the evidence in the contests and report conclusions to the main body. It was decided to appoint these subcommittees at once, and then the committee adjourned until 4 o'clock this afternoon, when reports will be received and the roll completed.

The Contests.

The full list of contests follows:

Idaho, entire state delegation; Illinois, first ten districts; New York, second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth districts; Ohio, ninth and nineteenth district; Pennsylvania, first and sixth districts; District of Columbia, entire delegation.

The chief interest is in the Idaho and New York fights. Mormonism is the real issue in the former, with ex-Senator Fred Dubois in the hardest battle of his career. The contestants are headed by John H. Nugent and Judge Perky, who are termed by the Dubois men as "Jack Mormons."

The New York contests presented a plain problem of one boss trying to get rid of another. Pat McCarren fought hard, but it is indicated he had little hope of winning out against the Murphy faction.

The subcommittees appointed to pass on the contests were:

Atwood, Kansas; Ware, Iowa; Dahlman, Nebraska; Campau, Michigan; Martin, Arkansas; Johnson, Ohio; Johnson, Idaho; S. D. Ryan, Wisconsin; Williams, Indian Territory; McGraw, West Virginia; Talbot, Maryland; Ellison, Virginia; Montcastle, Tennessee; Williams, Mississippi; Osborne, Wyoming; Donnelly, Idaho; Field, Porto Rico; Heifner, Washington.

The subcommittees decided to hold their hearings behind closed doors. The national committee then took a recess until 5 o'clock, when they will receive reports.

DENVER, July 6.—The New York state delegation at a meeting this afternoon elected as members of the convention committees Judge Alton B. Parker, on motion of the leader, Charles Murphy, for the resolutions platform; D. F. Cohalan, credentials; C. B. Williams, permanent organization; T. F. Grady, rules and order of business. Murphy was elected chairman of the delegation.

A committee of ten was appointed to draft a platform for submission to the committee on behalf of the state of New York. The members of this committee are: Lewis Nixon, A. B. Parker, T. F. Grady, G. F. Cohalan, Bird S. Coler, Martin W. Littleton, W. J. Walsh, W. W. Chandler, J. F. McGuire and E. E Coatsworth

The members of the delegation were invited to pay an assessment of $25 each to the treasurer of the state committee.

No formal action was taken regarding the presidential or vice presidential nominations.

If there is a contest of any moment, it will be Friday afternoon when the vice presidential candidate is named. Then the delegates will leave for home.

DENVER, July 6.—The subcommittee in the New York contest today decided to favor seating Murphy delegates without going into the merits of the case.

ACCIDENT AGAIN COSTS SKIP RACE

finish line turned around and went back.

In the first race over the 7 mile triangular course the Minneiska, built by Abrams of Minneiska who seeks to build a boat factory here, won first place; the Black Beauty, a big boat owned by Clark of Lake City, won second, and the Athaya, a Steffes boat of Winona, won third. The Skip came in fourth and the Signet fifth.

In the second race the new Black Beauty won first, the Minneiska second. The Skip could easily have had second in this race if she had not deliberately turned back.

In the first race in which the Minneiska defeated the New Black Beauty by 10 seconds, the owner of the latter boat claimed that owing to the flat bottom he lost time at the turns and he offered to bet $1,000 his boat could defeat the Minneiska in a straight away run.

HELD WIFE TILL HUBBY PAID $5.00

George Floty, "king" of the Syrians, on the North Side, is again in troupble, this time charged with assaulting his son-in-law, Abraham Assafor. The alleged assault occurred yesterday when Floty "jumped" Assafor. Assafor fought back but Floty got a strangle hold on his head and proceeded to t wist it until Assafor was nearly unconscious. A friend of Assafor and also a son-in-law of Floty tried to interfere, but he was given a few raps too.

After some more fighting the row was finally settled by the police. Among the chief witnesses as to the bad character of Floty was his own daughter and wife of his victim, Mrs. Assafor, who she married recently without permission, and when not yet 13 years old.

"Oh! he's no good even if he is my father," she said. "He all the time is trying to killa my husband." At this point her husband broke in with the assertion that "Yess and sometimes he come to myi house and taka away my wife and holda here until I giva him da five dol."

A warrant was sworn out for his arrest and the trial is on this afternoon.

S.S.S. MAKES A LASTING CURE

There are certain mineral medicines which will remove the external symptoms of Contagious Blood Poison, and shut the disease up in the system for awhile, but when the treatment is left off the disease will surely return. Then the loathsome symptoms of ulcerated mouth and throat, copper-colored spots, falling hair, sores and ulcers, etc., are usually worse because the disease has made rapid progress on the internal members, and weakened the constitution and general health of the sufferer. S. S. S. is the only remedy that can be used with perfect safety in the treatment of Contagious Blood Poison, and with the assurance that a lasting cure will result. This medicine, made entirely of roots and herbs of recognized curative and tonic value, antidotes and destroys the powerful virus of the disease, and by purifying the blood of every particle of the poison and enriching and strengthening the circulation, removes every sypmptom of the trouble. S. S. S. does not hide or cover up the disease in any way, but drives it entirely out from the blood, leaving not the slightest trace for future outbreaks. Home treatment book with valuable information and any medical advice desired sent free to all who write.

Gans looked drawn and tired. But still he kept sending in his smashes and the fifteenth ended with the outcome still uncertain.

Then came the sixteenth, when the telltale wabbling of Gans' knees told how Nelson's success in getting to his stomach was affecting him. The end could be forecasted as the men came together for the seventeenth, and midway in the round the lightweight division had a new champion.

The scene was dramatic when Gans was led from the ring. The old warrior, now well on to 40 years of age, had entered the ring seemingingly in the best of condition. He left it a shattered man, with plaintive wrinkles showing on his brown forehead and only able to talk in a broken and nervous voice as he stated frankly that he had met a man whose youth and strength made him the better fighter of the occasion.

Even the men who had wagered on Nelson and who were wildly applauding his victory, paused in their cheers for the victor to give a hand to Gans as he as led slowly through the crowd. His game stand showed that he still possesses his old-time fighting instinct, but, as one spectator worded it, "it was a good old engine, but the steam is gone."

The receipts were estimated at $40,000.

It is believed that a big sum changed hands on the result, in spite of lack of interest in the early wagering. Nelson bet $500 on himself, at odds of 2 to 1, getting $1,000 of Gans' money thereby. The small "holiday" bets commenced to pour in at poolrooms and sporting resorts early in the day and were eagerly snapped up by the gamblers, who believed Gans to be a certainty. As a result, they will have to pay heavily. While few bets of any moment were made, the volume of $2 and $5 wagers is thought to be considerable.

Nelson proved a lucky name, as "Champ' Nelson beat up Ollie Cornet, Bat's sparring partner, so badly in the preliminary that the sheriff stopped the bout in the eighth round.

YOUNG MEN are wanted in the United States Navy for all kinds of work on the vessels of the great fleet. Do you want to see more of the world, and at the same time have a steady job, with a chance to save more money than most men save working at home? Life in the Navy is full of opportunities. You have an employer who encourages athletic sports and study, who holds out to every man advancement and more pay as an inducement for faithful service. The first year you get the benefit of training school without extra cost. Your pay begins when you enter the service—board, lodging, medical attendance if sick, and a $60 uniform outfit, all are free. A trade means better pay to begin with and quicker promotion, even if you know your trade only partially. Musicians have the same advantages. You get a steady job, a chance to become manly and self-controlled. You will be sent to sea, probably on board one of the big new war vessels. Congress has just voted for more men. Application should be made at once. If accepted a position is ready for you. You must be an able-bodied American citizen, over seventeen years old. Tear this want ad out and get some friends to go in with you. Send today for free book, illustrated with pictures in color, which tells all about life in the Navy—the useful things you learn, the voyages, drills, sports, number of working hours and regular half-days off—all you want to know about the wages paid, promotions, etc. Send postal today for it to the Bureau of Navigation, Navy Department, Washington. Or get all the books about the Navy at the Navy Recruiting Station, Post Office Bldg., Minneapolis, Minn.

TRY TO ROB THE NEW LONDON BANK

BURGLARS CUT THROUGH A THREE FOOT WALL

GET $250 IN SMALL CHANGE

Store Adjoining Bank is Set on Fire by Explosion—Yeggmen Frightened and Elude Pursuers

NEW LONDON, Wis., July 6.—Burglars were discovered at work in the First National bank, and but for the noise made by the explosion, awakening the clerk who sleeps in the office, they would have succeeded in making a haul of several thousand dollars. At about 2 o'clock the clerk, J. Kromschinski, was awakened by what he at first supposed was the report of a cannon cracker.

A second explosion soon following, his suspicion was aroused. He heard a rattling noise.

Cut Through Brick Wall.

He got out of the building and notified the police, who began an investigation. Failing to find where the burglars had entered they entered the building and found that the burglars had entered from the back by using augers, boring several holes in the panel of the door and batting it. They found themselves in the Margraff Dry Goods company's store, with a solid brick wall, three feet thick, between them and the inside of the vault. They succeeded in making a hole large enough to crawl in, and began work on blowing open the large safe, at which they were interrupted. There was $400 in nickles and pennies on shelves in the vault and of this they gathered up about $250 and escaped, in their hurry they left their tools behind, which consisted of hammers, chisels, and a large bottle of nitro glycerine with fuse attached.

Store Set on Fire

It is supposed that this was to be used in blowing open the safe. Before the police entered the building it was discovered that the Margraff store was on fire. There are different opinions as to its origin, some believing that it was set by the burlars as they made their escape, while others are of the opinion that it started from the explosion.

One suspect is being held at Manitowoc.

MONROE WOMAN IS KILLED AT MADISON

MADISON, Wis., July 6.—Mrs. N. B. Treat of Monroe, Wis., was killed and her husband, Capt. Treat, seriously injured in a runaway accident while enjoying a pleasure drive through the state university grounds.

They were in a closed hack and the horses attached to it became frightened at the whiffle-trees hitting their legs and started to run away.

In an attempt to save themselves, Capt. and Mrs. Treat jumper, the latter springing out first, and striking the hard macadam roadway. Mrs. Treat died without regaining consciousness.

BODY, PARTIALLY DEVOURED, FOUND

RHINELANDER, Wis., July 6.—The partly devoured body of a man was found in the woods near Brantwood. There was nothing on his clothing to identify him. It is thought that he was killed by the panther that has been seen in this neighborhood recently. The man was apparently a woodsman and $55 was found in his vest pocket. It is reported that a child is lost in the woods near Tripoli and grave fears are entertained that the baby is another victim of the beast.

CARDINAL STAFF PROMOTED.

MADISON, Wis., July 6.—Promotions on the staff of the Daily Cardinal, the official publication of the University of Wisconsin, were announced by the Cardinal association as follows: Julius O. Roehl, Milwaukee, business manager; William J. Goldschmidt, Milwaukee, managing editor; James S. Thompson, Ligooler, Ind., assistant managing editor; David Hanchett, Chicago, university editor; Arthur B. Doe, Milwaukee, athletic editor. The highest cash prize for reporters was awarded Otto F. Bradley, Portland, Ore.

DIAMONDS FOUND IN OCONTO

OCONTO, Wis., July 6.—Diamonds are being dug up in this city. Not the kind found in the rough in the mines, but cut carefully and set. When the assessors returned the assessment rolls not a diamond was found on the books. The board of review since then has unearthed several valuable stones. Its endeavors are now concerned with locating the owners of the $800,000 deposits carried by the two local banks. Only $6,000 were returned by the assessors.

LIFE SAVED BY BYSTANDER.

RIPON, Wis., July 6.—Fred Geise, an employe of Paine Lumber company, Oshkosh, had his foot badly crushed by a north bound passenger train on the Milwaukee road here. Geise attempted to board the train while in motion and would undoubtedly have been crushed had a bystander not dragged him from beneath the wheels. He was taken to Oshkosh by a special train.

M'CABE HEADS THE POSTAL CLERKS

OSHKOSH MAN CHOSEN PRESIDENT FOR 1908-'09

LA CROSSE MAN TREASURER

G. M. Wenzel Chosen to Handle Funds—Baraboo Gets Next Convention

OSHKOSH, Wis., July 6.—Carl B. McCabe was elected president at the eighth annual convention of the Wisconsin Association of Postoffice Clerks. Other officers are:

First vice president—Ephraim Fontaine, Sheboygan.

Second vice president—William D. McGuire, Baraboo.

Secretary—Carl P. McAssey, Madison.

Treasurer—G. M. Wenzel, La Crosse.

Chairman organization committee—Charles A. Spiker, Milwaukee.

Chairman finance committee—A. O. Donaldson, Marinette.

Delegates to national convention at Birmingham, Ala.—President McCabe, ex-officio Edward C. Zander, Manitowoc.

The convention next year will be at Baraboo. Resolutions were passed indorsing Frank T. Rogers of Chicago for president of the national association and Edward C. Zander of Manitowoc for national vice president. Von L. Meyer, postmaster general, was indorsed on his position in favor of the postal savings banks and the parcels post.

It was reported that fifty-six branches are now in the state association and in the last year the membership has increased from 136 to 278. A constitution and bylaws were adopted. The retiring president, Mr. Zander, praised the legislation giving the clerks extended vacations with pay and the low salary rate of gradual increase by years of service. About fifty delegates were present, about a third of them being women.

THINKS NEW GUNS ARE BEST SHOOTERS

CAMP DOUGLAS, Wis., July 6.—There will be high scores made with the new Springfield rifle next year. Such is the belief of Bob Kane, the best shot ever in the Wisconsin National guard, an authority on rifle work. Mr. Kane spent most of last week on the range coaching members of company A and observing the working of the new rifle. I speaking of it he said the rifle was much more delicate in both windage and elevation than the Krag. According to Mr. Kane's observation but half of the windage and two-thirds of the elevation of the Krag are necessary up to 800 yards. He believes the rifle would be more accurate if the barrel was two or four inches longer, but said the length was adopted so as to make a uniform arm for all branches of the service.

The new pointed bullet, being lighter than the Krag bullet, is not carried by the wind as was the old, as its velocity is much greater.

The reservation is deserted with the exception of the men who are preparing the tents for the Third regiment which goes to camp next Saturday.

LIFE IS SAVED BY HIS WATCH

MEAVER DAM, Wis., July 6.—Walter Roeming was seriously injured about the hip and leg by being caught in the gearing of a cement machine. Serious injury was prevented by his watch going into the machine and stopping it.

BROTHERS DROWN AT RACINE

RACINE, Wis., July 6.—A double drowning took place in the river a short distance from the city when John Severin, aged 18 years, and his brother Herman, aged 16 years, went beyond their depth while bathing. A younger brother was rescued after having gone to the bottom twice. The bodies have been recovered. The mother of the boys was prostrated on the street when told of the fate of her two boys who were her main support, her husband having been ill for some time.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF

ANTIGO—The test of the water works under the supervision of the state rate commission proved that the plant is inadequate to meet present demands.

BAYFIELD—George H. White will devote a large part of his 1,100 acre farm near Pike's quarry to a fruit orchard. He has already set out 70,000 apple and 1,100 cherry trees, and thousands of strawberries and other shrubs.

BAYFIELD—The Bayfield Harbor and Great Western road has agreed to extend its line almost to Port Wing, a distance of seventeen miles, the improvement to be completed in 1911.

DODGEVILLE—The Rev. C. W. Lyman has taken charge of the Primitive Methodist church.

SUPERIOR—The German Lutheran congregation has purchased the church of the German Evangelical congregation, erected several years ago.

SUPERIOR—Bicycle thieves are active, about half a dozen wheels being taken every day.

We are all getting both barrels these days.

TODAY'S GRAIN GOSSIP

GRAIN OPINIONS.

Wheat—Rather liberal profit taking in wheat on the advance; Logan, Barrell and a little selling by Bartlett Patten. Champlin led the buying.

Corn—Logan and Love bought a little Dec. corn early. Realizing since the opening with the weakness in wheat had eased market. Country acceptances reported very light.

Bartlett Patten Co.: The cash corn situation appears more of a feature at the moment than crop conditions, though the latter were the basis of original local buying.

World's shipments detailed:

American wheat 2,272,000.

Argentine wheat 2,264,000, corn 2,429,000.

Australian wheat 64,000, corn none.

Danube wheat 120,000, corn 374,000.

India wheat 208,000, corn none.

Russia wheat 504,000, corn 382,000.

Total wheat 5,664,000, corn 3,185,000.

Hogs.

Hog opening: Estimated receipts, 20,000; left over, 5,916; prospects generally 5c higher light, $6.05 to 06.62½ mixed, $6.10 to $6.70; heavy, $6.10 to $6.72½; rough, $6.10 to $6.35.

Cattle—12,000; prospects strong to 10c higher.

Sheep—12,000; prospects 5 to 10c higher.

There may be nothing new under the sun, but lots of people seem pretty fresh.

LOCAL MARKETS

The local market today shows no change in prices. Strawberries are a thing of the past for the season while peaches have put in their appearance. Burns is expecting about eight cars of these peaches during the week and claims they will sell fast as they are the best peaches obtainable for preserving. No change in the local market is anticipated for tomorrow.

Clean-up of a Season's Selling

A GREAT WEEK OF RE-ADJUSTMENT

"Balancing the Stocks" A Clean Sweep of All "Odds and Ends" and Surplus of Summer Merchandise, in a Monster Country-Wide Distribution, at a Mere Fraction of Original Cost to the Makers!

The biggest spring selling season in the history of the Doerflinger store is ended. The "day of reckoning" is at hand. Each department manager is called "upon the carpet" at this time to give account of his stewardship and of what he has done with the "ten talents" entrusted to him last February—when the store's fiscal year began. Each line must be "clean" now—no oddments or endments will be tolerated on anyone's stock book. It's "up to" the department chiefs to act—each has this week to put his house in order. Every department head MUST clean up all remaining odd lots and reduce all surplus lines this week, no matter what the loss may mean to him or to the store; it's orders from the commander-in-chief and MUST BE OBEYED! "WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO ABOUT IT?" was the question put to each by the advertising manager. We print the replies verbatim—it's a wonderful chance to save in buying. Read:

THE STORE WILL CLOSE Wednesday at 1 o'clock for the first of the summer half-holidays to its helpers. Shop Wednesdays during July and August—in the forenoons —please.

A FURNITURE TALK

Pertinent and to point by Manager Langenbach of the Big Home-fitting Salons on the Third Floor. He shows it to be advantageous to the home-fitter to "get busy" this week if he—or she—would purchase splendid furniture and pretty decorative things for the living-rooms and porches at a big saving. Mr. Langenbach tells his own story best. It's mighty profitable reading!

I've got a lot of made up Draperies, made out of good materials, very pretty and all new styles. I have them all marked in plain figures, and cut that price right in half, in other words, sell 'em at 50 per cent off—or half price.

I've got a dozen or so of solid oak Dressers, which got slightly damaged in transportation and these too are going to be sold at HALF PRICE.

I have about twenty 6x9 ft. cotton warp, Matting Rugs and I'm going to place them on sale Monday for $1.85
I've got about 200 to 250 Axminster Rugs, 27x63 inches all new and if anybody wants one, or more, they have them for each $1.85
I've got no less than 150 6 ft. Axminster Rugs, all new patterns, sold everywhere for $4.50. I'm going to sell 100 of them, special to the first comers for $3.45
I've got about three gross of 54 inch Brass Extension Rods, everybody's price 10c, and I'm going to sell two gross only at a rod 5c
I've got 25 Reed Rockers, good size and well made, among them a few green ones for the porch. I'm going to sell every one of them special Monday at $2.48
I've got a lot of about 15 Morris Chairs and Rockers, covered with Boston leather, worth up to $12, each Monday choice $5.95

Bewitching Beauty in These "Jeffersonian" Hats

The gems of the milliner's art await our mid-summer patrons. Nothing old, shelf-worn or "passe" here to show you at any price. While other millinery houses find it hard to give away their collections of "curios and antiques," our assortments of stylish millinery are wonderfully attractive in their dainty freshness and matchless beauty. New hats for the "Summer Girl," for the stay-at-homes and the vacationists — right from the hands of their clever creators. And then we have arranged special lots for the "clean-up" sale at HALF PRICE. No reason for it, except that we want to join in the spirit of the week—and reduce our stock during July. So we offer this week scores of

$10.00 HATS FOR $5.00
$8.00 HATS FOR $4.00
$6.50 HATS FOR $3.25

FINAL MARK-DOWNS ON SUMMER SHOES AND OXFORDS!

COST OR LOSS CUT NO FIGURE NOW!

Says Manager Gregg—and what Gregg says generally "goes." If you haven't visited our shoe department since this same man Gregg revolutionized it you've missed a matter of interest to every wearer of stylish footwear in La Crosse. Gregg is a "sticker" for style, and knows how to get more snap" and value into a shoe than any shoe buyer who ever "hit" this trail." He's off for market next week to buy Fall Shoe stocks—says he must have needed room for their reception and hasn't any use for what remains of that famous purchase of Hammer Bros. & Satek stock of footwear. So he puts the knife in deeper, combines 'em with all broken lines from regular stocks and offers the following tempting menu for this week:

Broken lines in the Just Wright and Crossett Shoes, special to close out at the pair $1.89

Women's Oxfords made by Queen Quality, Bolton and Bering Shoe company, in patent gun metal and vici kid, regular $3.50 values, to close at a pair $2.59
